Schools await new funds from reform bill

County schools should receive more than $6 million in additional funds

Compiled from staff reports

Lake County legislators have finally brought home the promise many of them campaigned on last election—school funding reform.

School leaders throughout the county will be evaluating the plan over the coming days to see how it will benefit their individual districts. At press time, the impact of the bill was not yet known by many area schools.

Under terms of a multi-year education reform plan, Gov. Jim Edgar was to sign into law, Dec. 4, Lake County schools will receive more than $6 million in additional revenue next year.

Officials at Round Lake Unit Dist. 116 estimate the district will receive an additional $2.46 million in fiscal year 1998-99. The district should also receive $142,000 in the remaining fiscal year.

The additional money for this year comes from an increase in the foundation level per student. That level will rise to $4,100 this year and to $4,425 yearly by FY01.

"I am happy to see an education reform plan finally reach the Governor," said state Senator Adeline Geokaris (R-Zion). "So many schools in Illinois need a concrete plan to help bring up the foundation level. Not only does this plan give poorer schools more money this year, but it sets up a mechanism to keep increasing funding, providing more equitable funding state wide."

The plan also includes a $1.4 billion school construction bond program which includes $300,000 for projects already approved in local referendums and $1.1 billion for new projects. Under the program, the state will contribute 35-75 percent to a project.

To qualify for the program school districts must meet minimum enrollment figures. Seventeen local school districts qualify for the program including the county's poorest districts such as Round Lake, Waukegan, North Chicago, Zion and Winthrop Harbor.

Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington) had lobbied hard for the school funding reform package and worked intensely with the Round Lake area schools to assist them with funding programs.

The first-term representative called the measure a "great accomplishment" that will have tremendous benefit for the Round Lake area schools.

"This isn't a perfect bill," said Rep. Corrine Wood (R-Lake Forest). There are other issues that need to be addressed including property tax relief for homeowners."

"No, it isn't perfect, but it is the most substantial reform we have had for school funding in years," Geokaris said.

Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) had been a key member of the House committee working on the school funding reform bill.

Santa Claus lives

Mundelein man's name legally changed

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Santa Claus lives in Mundelein. Lake County Associate Judge George Bridges officially changed Mundelein resident Robert Rion's name at a hearing held Dec. 1, in Waukegan.

Santa Claus is now a darling of the media, something he was trying to avoid. Every Chicago television news broadcast carried stories about Claus, 53, this week.

"Good Morning America" even reached out to Santa, asking for an interview.

"This has all snowballed," Claus said, adding how it was something he tried to avoid. "It is just overwhelming."

"The judge made a cute comment," said Thomas M. P. Hannigan, Claus' attorney. "I guess if I did not sign this order, Christmas might not occur this year," Bridges said.

With his stamp of approval, Rion's goal was accomplished, and he is now Santa Claus.

"It was very interesting how he did it," Claus said, in-between taking calls from children and fielding news reporters and producers.

"The phone last night (Dec. 1) rang off the hook," he said.

However, he cautioned that this is not a gimmick or a business ploy.

The man behind the Lone Sailor

Hawthorn Woods businessman brings gift to Navy

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

One event has been pivotal in the 50-year life of Hawthorn Woods resident Ron Weeks—Marine boot camp.

"It set the stage for how I run my life," said the son of a career Army man. "It's the philosophy, 'take the hill.'"

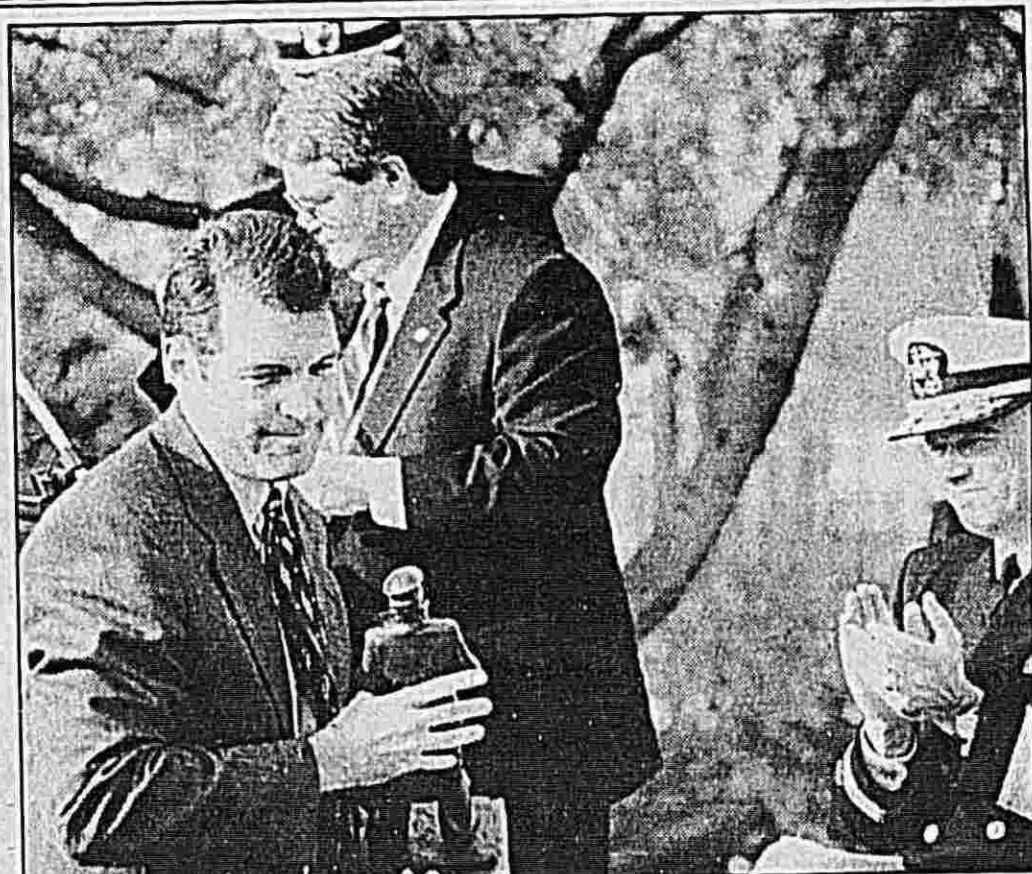

Weeks grew up an east Texas farm boy, the baby in a trio of sons of a homemaker and retired Army Master Sergeant.

"Discipline was a way of life in our household," Weeks said. The discipline he learned as a child coupled with the lessons he learned in Marine Corps bootcamp set the course for an outlook on life that makes him determined, strong-willed and compassionate.

"I am an emotional person," he said. "I believe in values, in things you can't put into words—they are feelings. Like the camaraderie learned in Marine boot camp." Weeks believes young people need to have history and value to their life.

For these reasons, Weeks became in the last six months, the man most deeply responsible for the first ever replica of the Lone Sailor to be cast and to take root in a new home—Re-

SANTA: Now calls Mundelein home

Although he fits the role, standing 6 feet tall, weighing 300 pounds and having a long white beard and hair, he has said how his attorney said changing his name could actually affect his excavating company, PR Grading Co., which he runs out of his ranch-style home.

"I am strictly doing this for the young children and the handicapped children and adults and senior citizens," Claus said. "All the money in the world cannot buy me to come to an event."

A group of Girl Scouts ages 5 and 6 from Waukegan invited Claus to attend their Christmas party in two weeks, which he gladly accepted.

He is also in conversation with the Glenkirk organization for disabled children and adults. "That is a worth cause," Claus said. "They are a very needy organization and they have to help a lot of children and adults."

As soon as Bridges declared Rion Santa Claus, he was off to the nearest Illinois Secretary of State Office to change his drivers license. At first he had trouble convincing them he was indeed Santa Claus, and needed to return with the proper paper work before receiving a new drivers license with his new name.

Next, Claus will contact the Social Security Office about having his new name attached to his number, which will not change.

Now that his name has officially changed, Claus said he feels "great; Very, very satisfied."

"Now I am really happy about myself and I can say I am very, very happy."

It's a kind of satisfaction you can't measure!

WEEKS: Brings Lone Sailor to Great Lakes

cruit Training Command, Great Lakes. It is the only site for basic training in the U.S. Navy.

The statue was dedicated on Halloween. It was paid for through funds raised by Weeks and other members of the Illinois State Navy League, a organization comprised of civilians who support the Navy and its mission and work to educate the general populace about the role of defense in America. Weeks is the current state president.

"The Lone Sailor stands for the Navy's core values—honor, courage and commitment," Weeks said. "When a new recruit looks at the Lone Sailor, they should see the history of the organization for which they are training. They should see that they are never alone—they step into the footsteps of a tradition. If used properly... it is an invaluable tool for them to have."

Weeks, who had never ran a fundraising campaign before, raised more than $400,000 to bring the statue to Great Lakes since the idea was finalized in May. The construction of a second Lone Sailor statute was the dream of Hank McKinney, president and CEO of the Navy Memorial in Washington D.C., site of the first Lone Sailor. McKinney, a retired admiral, wanted the statute to serve as an inspiration to recruits.

McKinney was in the Chicago area in late February of 1997 and Weeks was introduced to him through Mack Gaston, retired admiral and former commander of Naval Training Center, Great Lakes. Gaston was leading the training center in 1993 during the Congressional hearings on base closure. Weeks was vice chairman of VOICE—the citizens' committee which worked to save Great Lakes from closure.

"They came back May 1 with a sketch," Weeks said. "I have never learned to say no, so the next day I began to raise the $400,000 needed to construct the statue. It was a leap of faith. Before anything was done, the dedication date was 'cast into bronze.'"

Weeks said he also stepped up because he knew if he didn't the Lone Sailor was not going to happen and he believed in the cause.

"I've been fortunate in business to be in a position to be able to devote time to projects such as these," the insurance man said.

Weeks, who was president of the Lake County Council of the Navy League last year, had met a couple who ran a landscaping firm, at a Toys for Tots Christmas party hosted at his home.

Adrian Aldrich of Gurnee is a Marine veteran who served in Viet Nam. "I saw his Marine Corps tie-tack, he uses it as a money clip, and we hit it off. A Marine is always a Marine," Weeks said. Adrian and his wife, Sue, did all the landscape work and design.

"I knew he would appreciate the significance of the Lone Sailor," Weeks said. "And, he did."

The Grainger Foundation was the largest financial contributor to the Lone Sailor project. Other contributors were: the cities of North Chicago, Waukegan and Gurnee, the Great Lakes Credit Union, Armed Forces National Bank and the Lake County Economic Development Commission.

"One thing that happened during the base closure process is that the political and business leadership of Lake County developed a real understanding of the value in human terms of the base and the economic impact it has on the county," Weeks said.

Weeks believes the Lone Sailor will continue to instill in Navy recruits the sense of values which the Marine Corps instilled in him in the late 1960s.

"It represents a value, something beyond yourself. When a kid stands on that plaza looking at the statue it will be an emotional experience in which he will first feel he is an important part of this big organization called the U.S. Navy. He has to do his job as good as he can to be part of the finest Navy on the face of the earth," Weeks said. "That place will be special to the Navy."

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Fitness center put on hold

Gurnee—Gurnee area residents hoping to workout their New Year's Resolutions to lose holiday pounds and inches at a new fitness center may have to find alternatives.

Executives at Health Tech, Inc. of Mesa, Ariz. are facing federal charges regarding how their stock sales were handled. Indictments were announced in New York last week by Federal prosecutors. The prosecutors believe there may be organized crime connections.

Gurnee officials were largely taken aback and taking a wait-and-see approach.

"With the recent Federal indictments, there will likely be some delay in the building. They have not submitted any building permit requests for renovating," Brad Burke, village spokesperson said.

"The Securities and Exchange Commission has stopped sale of their stock," Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton pointed out.

Health Tech had planned a multi-million dollar renovation of the former grocery store site at Route 132. Developers had gained necessary special use permit.

Plans called for physical fitness equipment, a juice bar, treadmills, day care center, swim lap area, and a medical component. The entire former grocery store, 84,000 square feet would be used at Village Commons. There were plans for giving Gurnee residents a break in membership rates.

Hooper family math nights

Lindenhurst—Families are invited to B. J. Hooper School Dec. 10 and 11 to learn more about math programs at the school.

On Dec. 10 first grade math programs will be discussed from 6:30 to 8 p.m. On Dec. 11, kindergarten programs will be discussed with parents during the same time period.

"It's a chance for parents to see what the math program is like," said Judi Nieder, Math Specialist at Hooper School. "It is an opportunity for the children to demonstrate what they have learned too."

Mathematics at Hooper is basically the same math that parents learned when they were in school. The vocabulary for teaching it, however, has changed as well as the way it is taught. Parents need to be familiar with the new language if they wish to be most effective at working with their children on homework.

"The children have homework daily in math," Nieder said. The concepts are the same but the vocabulary is different. Nieder said that, for example, algorithm invention is the process of carrying, borrowing, and re-grouping. These sessions at school will help parents learn what and how their children are learning.

The math education program at Hooper School is called "Everyday Math" and is a product of the University of Chicago Math Project. This program is for children in kindergarten through grade six. "It teaches more of a problem solving aspect of math. It teaches children not just a recipe for how to do long division but how to think about it and problem solve," said Nieder.

Library builds to summer opening

Lake Villa—Still somewhat close to its projected construction schedule, the new Lake Villa District Library building is beginning to assume its final form.

"We are still saying summer of 1998," said Director Barbara Elmore about their projected opening date. Weather and early snow in November affected the schedule, but it is not considered to be a serious or unusual situation for a project of this magnitude.

"The roof is up so we can get a sense of how the spaces will be," Elmore said. She said that the new space in the facility will permit adults and children to have special reading areas and will create public rooms for community events.

$2.5 million headed for Dist. 116

Round Lake—Round Lake Area Unit School District #116 officials had reason to smile on Tuesday when they learned the State of Illinois passed a school funding bill.

The bill passed the Illinois House at a special session called by Governor Jim Edgar.

The bill will bring in an additional $2.46 million for the district in fiscal year 1998-99. The district should also receive $142,000 in the remaining fiscal year.

Police Chief leaving Grayslake

Grayslake—Grayslake Chief of Police Dennis Koletsos, has announced he won't renew his contract which expires April 30, 1998. The 47-year-old police chief said he is ready to move on with his life and leave the department he joined in March of 1994.

Koletsos likened the changes he's brought about within the department to 10 light years of accomplishments packed into three years.

"We've modernized the department and it's poised to go into the 21st Century with technology and training," he said of the improvements. "I really think probably the biggest task was to professionalize the department. At the time I took over the department needed a great deal of training and updating of technical expertise."

The announcement of Koletsos resignation was made by Mayor Pat Carey at the Dec. 2, village board meeting.

Koletsos has worked under a yearly contract since he was hired. The village has hired Par Group, a public sector recruiting agency, to locate a replacement. This is the same agency which recruited Koletsos. He will be given 21 days notice once a replacement is found, if that occurs before the end of April.

Carey praised Koletsos saying he's taken the department into an "era of modernization."

Koletsos his four children and wife Cheryl relocated to Grayslake as part of the conditions of his contract. Koletsos said moving out of town is always a possibility, but they have no immediate plans. Prior to his position in Grayslake, Koletsos worked for 21 years in the Wooddale Police Department as Commander of Deputy Chief Operations.

PTOs Sell Trees Sat. at ACHS

Antioch—District #34 Parent Teacher Organizations will sell evergreen trees at the Antioch Community High School parking lot Saturday, Dec. 6 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. It is a one-day tree sale with the best tree selections available in the early morning.

"It is first come-first served, limited quantity. When we are sold out, we are done," said Leslie Church, one of the tree sale coordinators. "We picked an amount we hope to sell in one day."

The fund-raising event proceeds will be divided between the PTOs of four schools: Antioch Lower Grade School, Oakland Grade School, W.C. Petty Elementary School, and Antioch Upper Grade School.

"We started in August organizing this," she said. "It was organized by the presidents and the ways and means committee coordinator of each PTO. At Antioch Lower Grade School, the President is Cindy Dziki and the Ways and Means Committee Coordinator is Heather Menzer. At Oakland School they are, respectively, Doris Houslander and Church. At W.C. Petty School, Kate Jefferson and Katherine Morgan were involved. At Antioch Upper Grade School, Sandy Jacobs and Mary Turner were the President and Coordinator who were involved."

Adult club opens over uproar

Diamond Lake—Offsides Bar has altered its business, and a neighborhood sports bar has turned into an adult nude dancing club overnight, causing an eruption from officials and residents wanting to shut the establishment for good.

Located at 26228 N. Route 83 near Mundelein, the bar reopened Nov. 26 with scantily clad women serving drinks and dancing provocatively, only to be shut down the following day, and have its liquor license revoked by the Lake County Liquor Commissioner Robert L. Grever (R-Kildeer), at a hearing held the morning of Dec. 2.

Hours later, it reopened as a topless dance club without a liquor license. Officials were scrambling for ways to shut the place for good. State legislation going into effect Jan. 1, 1998 will outlaw any such establishments within 1,000 feet of a church or school, and Lake County States Attorney Michael Waller is investigating what they can do to close the establishment under the County's zoning laws, if not the new state law.

Calendar documents history

Wauconda—The Wauconda Township Historical Society has created an interesting stocking stuffer—a calendar. However, it is not an ordinary calendar, it is a historical one, featuring pictures of the township from the late 1890s and on.

There is also interesting historical data within the pages of the calendar. So, instead of just marking the normal major holidays—New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, and so on, the calendar marks the birthday of Wauconda's first mayor, or the community's founder's birthday.

The calendars are a hot seller. Of the 500 produced, only 100 remain. And at $5 each, they are a true bargain for historical buffs.

Cook board sets spending limit

Libertyville—The Cook Memorial Library board of trustees voted to cap the amount of money they will borrow for the construction of a second library in Vernon Hills and for renovations at the downtown Libertyville sight at Tuesday night's board meeting.

The trustees voted 4-1 to limit the amount sought for their plans to $19.9 million. Trustee Greg Mayworm cast the only dissenting vote.

Lawsuit filed against developer

Ingleside—Marianne Amann thought she had it all when she moved into her secluded home, off of Route 134, outside of Round Lake in unincorporated Avon Township.

A forrest of trees in front of her home, a number of acres behind her and a private driveway were all hers but she now says her rights are being infringed on by the developer of a huge housing project.

Amann said she's had enough and recently filed suit against the Penguin Group, the lead developer of the 858 acre, 1,828 home Valley Lakes development in Round Lake. The development will eventually surround her property.

The lawsuit seeks to keep construction equipment and crews from using her driveway and also seeks money for damages already done to the drive.

Hodgepodge tone won't be eliminated

Tuesday's vote in Springfield on educational and school funding reform should not be looked upon with gloating or despair, depending on your personal bias as to how Illinois funds and operates its public schools.

As long as Illinois exists as a state with three separate and distinct entities—downstate, suburban collar counties and Cook County—there always will be plenty of politicking and posturing going into the process of raising money and setting standards for education. How could legislators representing such dissimilar interests operate any differently?

One of the interesting things coming out of the latest go around is that the players in the on-going drama and the issues became more clearly identified than ever. Whoever would have thought that the teachers unions would ally themselves with the likes of the tobacco lobby and riverboat gamblers to oppose funding and reform that found favor in both political parties? But that's exactly what happened.

Even in a helter-skelter atmosphere with propositions changing almost minute-to-minute, it was abundantly clear that the state can produce revenue for education without tapping homeowners heavier or exacting more tribute from the general populace in the form of an income tax hike. The most disingenuous argument of all was advanced by the riverboat gaming industry in the claim that it could produce $70 million in additional taxes as opposed to a plan producing $58 million—if docking and greater customer access would be permitted. As usual, the gamblers would have won big even while whining to the public that they are losers.

Despite all the rhetoric, unmistakable trends are in sway to end lifetime teacher tenure, open up classrooms to teaching professionals from other fields, force local school boards to deal with the realities of charter districts, strengthen learning standards like "no pass, no play." All these indicators are encouraging.

The General Assembly showed healthy signs that it can provide special funding for classroom construction for school districts overwhelmed by urban sprawl. Some of the districts are here in Lake County. Assembly members have a weathered eye on necessary foundation levels, the underpinning for all state funding programs.

Need for educational reform won't be solved in one swoop nor will the complex way school funds are provided be reduced to a simple formula. Sometimes the dialog is disgusting, but we're not dismayed that the debate is ongoing. That's a reality in a state like Illinois with so many disparate components.

Get ready for the next round.

GOP leaders 'stub their toes' on extension of Route 53 North

By ANDY BITTA

In a newspaper article, State Sen. Adeline Geor-Karis said, "—that, I think it's a very necessary extension (53 North); it's too bad that some people are so shallow minded about it that they don't see the forest for the trees."

Another article referred to the possibility that Al Salvi may choose to run against State Rep. Robert Churchill for Secretary of State.

Patrick Durante had several negative statements to say about Salvi. He has a right to his opinion. In the same article, Todd Vandermolen a National Rifle Assn. lobbyist apparently threatened Salvi by saying, "I think you will see a lot of gun owners looking to get even. A lot of gun owners will turn out for Churchill as pay-back."

Jack Roeser also had some quotables directed at Salvi. First, "Nobody liked a waffler and Salvi shot his credibility." Mr. Roeser, if you remember, challenged GOP Governor Edgar's re-election three years ago. Here we go again, if you do not vote for whom I say you are "naive." Webster defines "naive" as someone showing a lack of informed judgment. Maybe Salvi waffled, but he also said he erred. It took a strong, self actualizing individual to admit he was wrong. The people have not heard too many tenured Republicans or Democrats publicly admit to doing anything wrong.

Well, in my opinion, there is no bigger waffler than Mr. Churchill. In 1988 he attended the inauguration of the Wetlands Demonstration Project in Wadsworth. He said, "the project will give researchers better insight in ways of restoring lost wetlands." He goes on to say, "God knew what he intended and we are going to do our best to bring it back."

United States Rep. Phil Crane said, "While we may not immediately recognize the benefits of the project, surely our children and grandchildren will look back and thank us for it." A short time after these notable words by Churchill and Crane, Churchill was advocating the construction of 53 North (FAP 342).

There are 23 of what God intended wetlands in the path of 53 North. God is truth, and in my opinion Churchill didn't use God and what he intended and at some other gathering, propose a road which will destroy what "God intended."

Representative Crane please don't talk about our

VIEWPOINT

Friendship overrides technicalities, orders

Chicago's top cop got shot down in a public display of humility for one of the most human reactions—standing by a friend.

Police Supt. Matt Rodriguez knew all about Rule 47, a well intended piece of bureaucratic Swiss cheese designed to keep police officers from playing footsy with the people they lock up. Handing in his resignation, Rodriguez simply stated, "I didn't look on him as Frank the felon. He was a friend."

As an ambitious young police officer, Rodriguez undoubtedly would have been more circumspect associating with an ex-con contrary to department regs. After 31 years of honorable service and nowhere else to go but out, Rodriguez chose the practical exit. Quit before he was fired.

Is Rodriguez a hero or just another street-wise Chicago cop who knew his time was up? That was beside the point, some of the guys decided over a round of drinks. The real question is, how do you relate to a friend who has done some time in the slammer? Do you turn your back? Tear out a lot of pages of your book of good times together? Make like the tour behind bars never happened? What do you do?

To a man, everyone in the group knew people who had done time. Screwed up big time. Close buddies. Acquaintances. Business associates. Casual contacts. Whatever, under terms of Rule 47 if they wore the Chicago police uniform they would have been obligated to break off a once worthwhile relationship, maybe even valued. What to do?

One thing newspapermen and cops have in common. They know a lot of people, not all of them on the pathway to sainthood. The contacts are not like Army buddies or school chums. But if the person you know is an ex-con, you still can talk to them. Without squirming.

My recollections mirrored the other guys who knew people who technically are felons. A mayor or two. Some business types. A law enforcement officer. Some politicians. One of the best column writers I ever knew took some wrong turns and wound up in the hoosegow for a spell. They all paid their debt and came out to reorganize their lives. Pretty well, too. The guys talking about Matt Rodriguez agreed that it would be pretty silly to walk away from a friendship, whatever the level, just because the person was wearing that indelible tag of felon. What are friends for? When does a helping hand or a warm word more than when the other guy is down?

Hang Rule 47. Matt Rodriguez is more of a man than any of the anonymous types that tipped his hand or OK'd a sic'em order. He's certainly more of a friend.

Old hat

Maybe it's getting old hat, but John Miller, the Lindenhurst barber and this area's top spokesman for bowling, hardly speaks about his third 300 game. "Yeh, I got another one," he comments modestly. Miller, a resident of Gurnee, would rather talk about promoting bowling tournaments and getting more people involved in bowling, than his own exploits. He's that kind of guy.

Remembering Russ

Russ Fairchild used to delight residents of the Antioch area with his annual "Christmas Stroll," a literary jaunt through stores and shops in which he described how hometown folks were coping with the pressures of the holidays. Russ, a retired postal employee, writer and local historian, weaved scores of names into his tale published in the Antioch News-Reporter before Christmas.

Age and illness have overtaken Russ, who now resides at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, 1055 Grand Ave., Lindenhurst, Ill., 60046. Cards and letters would light up the day for a gentle man who used to brighten the lives of so many with his generous words and kind thoughts. He's in Room 127.

Illini success

Women's basketball at the University of Illinois keeps getting better and better. A large measure of Lady Illini success is the result of players who learned the game on local courts. Illinois women were Big Ten champs in 1996-97 and attained an NCAA Sweet 16 finish. Now they're aiming for a national championship.

They have a flock of fans in northeastern Illinois because of Ashley Berggren, Barrington; Taujha Catchings and Katie Coleman, Stevenson grads; Elizabeth Zurek of Crystal Lake, and Nicole Vasey, Lake Zurich. At last check, Illini women were ranked No. 8.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Democrats finally have a race

The county clerk's race featuring Linda Hess and Willard Helander won't be the only race where sparks will be flying in the 1998 elections, the Democrats who have often had trouble placing candidates on the ballot, have two primary races for county board seats.

Incumbents Debra Halas (9th Dist.- Waukegan) and Audrey Nixon (14th Dist.- North Chicago) are both facing challengers. Peggy Shorts is challenging Halas and Donna King is challenging Nixon. Both are political newcomers.

Shorts says it is time for new representation on the board. Both incumbents have been criticized for appearing to side with mainstream Republicans on the county board.

"We need people who are independent thinkers," said Bob Sabonjian, who is challenging Republican Jim Stanczak for his 8th district seat on the county board. Should be a good race.

Heating up

Also heating up is what appears to be a four-way race for County Board Dist. 7, the seat now held by Al Westerman. Two familiar names are thinking of making a run for the seat—Shaun Depke, son of former county board chairman Bob Depke, and Glenn Ryback, a Wadsworth trustee running as a Democrat. Both Depke and Ryback were candidates for the Warren Twp. supervisor post last spring. Sue Simpson was elected in that race. Also said to be entering the race is Mark Raffelders, currently a Gurnee trustee.

Taking Wood's spot

Former Lake County Assistant State's Attorney Christopher Stride made his official announcement as a candidate for State Rep in the 59th district,

Simpson: Republican song bird

Stolman: Seeks another county board term

Altman: Challenging Marks will bring open mind to county board

Thursday. That seat is currently held by Corrine Wood, who is running for Lt. Gov. on the George Ryan ticket. Stride's campaign co-chairs are former state representative Virginia Frederick and Green Oaks Mayor Thomas Adams.

Effective leadership

Dr. Andy Altman is seeking the Republican nomination for the Dist. 21 county board seat currently held by Martha Marks. Altman, a dentist practicing in Highland Park, promises to bring an open mind to the county board.

Altman says he agrees with Marks' positions on many of the issues but says her disagreements with mainstream Republicans on the board has kept her from being an effective leader for her constituents.

A song is likely to erupt whenever four Republican women get together. They love to sing and they're pretty good. The GOP quartet is made up of Judge Barbara Gylloran-Johnson, Warren Township Supervisor Sue Simpson, Antioch County Board Rep. Judy Martini and Wendy Tepper, Warren Township trustee. You don't have to ask them twice.

'Geo' campaign

Paul Peterson by his own admission will be the type of politician long on deeds and short on words. The longtime Waukegan precinct committeeman is mounting a serious bid for the Republican nomination for 62nd Dist. state representative despite long odds.

Peterson had no problem filing nomination petitions in his home territory. Peterson's popularity in Waukegan signals a tussle of hometown favorites where "geo" stands for geography and not Geo-Karis. The 62nd stretches A to Z (Antioch to Zion) and includes a big chunk of Waukegan.

Humor in workplace lightens the load

My scouts and I have been observing and taking notes (research, research, research). You never know when one of us might be peering at you from behind our local Lakeland newspaper, wearing a Groucho Marx disguise.

So we want you to know we are especially impressed with the way you cope with your sometimes nerve-racking, but perhaps mostly neat little niche in the world of work.

It's comforting to visit places of business and see there's a sense of humor prevailing. For example, on office bulletin boards we have been amused by signs such as these:

"Is it Friday yet?"
"There must be a Friday around here somewhere."

"If you don't think the dead come to life, you should see this place at quitting time."

In one office, we spotted a woman with a coffee mug that carried the message, "Thank you, Lord, for letting me work with such charming people."

Funny lady.
In another office, at adjacent desks, there were dueling coffee mugs, one adorned with a blue and orange Chicago Bears helmet and the other with a green and gold Green Bay Packers helmet.

It's finally fun again to be a Packer fan.
In yet another office, a woman in her 60s is still the glue that holds the place together, serving as Girl Friday for a dozen male bosses. On her desk is a sign that says, "So many men, so little time."

Nobody ever died wishing he had spent more time at the office. Abraham Lincoln had it in perspective. He wrote, "My father taught me to work, but not to love it. I never did like to work, and I don't deny it. I'd rather read, tell stories, crack jokes, talk, laugh — anything but work."

Ol' Abe had a way with brevity. He did the Gettysburg Address in 226 words and his philosophy about work and play in 34.

Shrinks keep reminding us that

THE PFARR CORNER

humor helps folks deal with stress in the home and the workplace, that we should take our jobs seriously but ourselves lightly.

Humor is most helpful when the pressure is greatest, and the toughest jobs include those of police, firemen and rescue workers. They often feel the need to swap grisly wisecracks to help them cope with the ghastly cases they encounter. It's called gallows humor, making fun of a life-threatening, disastrous or terrifying situation.

For example, this slogan on a bulletin board shared by homicide detectives: "Our day begins when yours ends."

And this one on a hospital bulletin board:

"The first five minutes of life can be most risky." Penciled underneath: "The last five minutes ain't so hot either."

I guess my favorite response to our current hurry-up, get crackin' world—the approach I am trying to adopt—is the sign we sometimes see behind the busy waitress at the restaurant counter:

"I have two speeds. If you don't like this one, you sure as heck won't like the other one."

Letters welcome

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be on topics of general interest, approximately 250 words or less.

All letters must be signed, and contain a home address and telephone number. The editor reserves the right to condense all letters.

children and grandchildren. Their air is polluted, their water is polluted. By the year 2035, they might get to keep 40¢ of every dollar that they make if they are lucky. It costs the taxpayers millions of dollars for a project such as the one in Wadsworth. When the Lake County Board was trying to railroad the Yorkhouse Road Project through these same wetlands, we heard not a word from Representative Churchill or Crane.

Taxpayers also pay for wetland mitigation and there have been instances where replacement of wetlands do not work. People should question IDOT about the wetland project at Route 83 and Gilmer Road, and what it, cost the taxpayer. It is your money.

Lest I forget Senator Geo-Karis should the highway FAP 342 be constructed, the people in her district can look forward to:

1. Business moving out of the district.
2. Decreased tax base.
3. Jobs moving also out the district.
4. Those who remain will pay higher taxes and will have to deal with a decaying infrastructure.

Senator Geo-Karis, we are not really shallow minded. We are broad minded for putting up with politicians who perpetuate their own interests instead of the interests of the people who they represent. We middle-of-the-road Republicans may be thought of as shallow or naive but, this writer believes that the majority of present day politicians feel that they have fooled some of the people most of the time. They better recall the words of the brighter Republican who said, you can not fool all of the people all of the time."

Any political candidate who depends on friends to help he or she in re-election had better choose people who appeal to and understand the electorate. Not those who insult the Republican majority.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Build now for Dist. 128 future enrollment

Let's be honest with the taxpayers of District 128 and ourselves. District 128 and the referendum committee distributed several pieces of literature that said the total enrollment of LCHS is expected to reach 3,600 students by the year 2005. Rick Friedenberg noted in an article published May 22, 1997 that the student population is expected to grow by 1,000. The present student body is 2,458.

In literature distributed at the August Wednesday night workshops it was written that Dr. Gossett thought enrollment would ultimately reach 3,600 students. To me that means with a new school for 1,600 students, Butler Lake would have to accommodate 2,000. Legat Architects in a space comparison of the two school buildings from September, 1997 used 2,050 students at Butler and 1,600 at the new campus.

The taxpayers of District 128 voted "yes" to the referendum but also elected three new board members because they were not happy with the direction the administration and prior board were heading. I agree that construction of the new school should start on time for the safety and education of our students but careful consideration must be given to prevent a new referendum to increase taxes in the future.

I'm here to represent the vocal minority as well as the silent majority who are watching the board's decisions very closely. We must make sure all taxpayers dollars are spent wisely. We must make sure that the entire student body of District 128, our children, our future, all have an equal opportunity for an excellent education. Even Senator Link, Mayor Byrne and the Vernon Hills Village Board shouldn't have a problem with this.

Campaign finance reform a joke

The biggest joke of all in my opinion is, campaign finance reform, be it federal or state level, and the line item veto.

Letting politicians rewrite campaign finance reform legislation is like putting the fox in charge of the hen house. After all, these are the same people who wrote the current laws, aren't they?

On the line item veto, President Clinton used it to take $30 million out of a $250 billion defense spending bill, or about 1/100 of 1 percent of the total, and the very Senate that fought so hard for the line item veto just overrode the President. So $30 million of non-requested military spending for "pork projects" is back in the bill.

Now the President has vetoed $20 million out of $111 billion in spending, a whopping 2/100 of 1 percent and now we sit back and await the next override.

And the politicians wonder why nobody seems to believe them or take them seriously. What a joke they have made of our political system. This comedy is a tragedy.

I could go on, but I have to get busy figuring out how to spend the eight pennies I stand to save by the President's latest veto—that is if the Senate doesn't override it once again.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Thinking small will stunt growth

In the past 10 years I've worked one-to-one with more than 2,000 small-business owners. Many of their companies are still small companies because the owners think small.

Sam Walton would have been a successful merchant with just one Ben Franklin store. However, Sam had a bigger dream. Today, millions of people shop in Wal-Mart stores every week.

Walt Disney was a successful cartoonist and film maker. But Walt had a larger thought: family entertainment. Today, millions enjoy the Disney theme parks.

Henry Ford knew how to build luxury automobiles. However, Henry had a bolder vision: affordable transportation for everyone. Today, Ford Motor Co. is one of America's largest and most profitable companies.

There are hundreds of other names that we could add to this list. Folks who started small, but decided not to stay that way.

If you are a business owner, you have a decision to make: You can stay small, or you can dream the bigger dream. I'm aiming this column at those of you who are already dreaming.

The bigger picture

James Allen said, "You are today where your thoughts have brought you: you will be tomorrow where your thoughts take you." Here are some tips for achieving a bigger tomorrow.

- Take charge of your attitude. When you are in control of your attitude no wall is too high, no river too wide and no dream too big. No business challenge can overwhelm you when you sincerely believe you can. A positive attitude is a little lever that lifts a big load.

- Plan for success. After you've taken charge of your attitude, develop a plan to turn your dream into reality. Begin with an assessment of where you are today and why you're there. Then write down your goals. Where do you want to be? What do you want to accomplish? Now you can begin to lay out the steps to get from where you are to where you want to be.

- Set your sights on improvement. The best way to achieve fast growth is to get better at what you're already doing well. Capitalize on your strengths, but don't ignore your weaknesses. You will have to improve in those areas as well. However, you will accelerate into the big-dream mode by staying focused on those things you do better than anyone.

- Be open to opportunities. If you're looking for big opportunities, seek big problems. Opportunities hide in difficulties, problems and challenges. When you see problems, search for solutions. Therein lie potential opportunities.

- Surround yourself with good people. Walt Disney said, "You can dream, create, design and build the most wonderful place in the world, but it requires people to make the dream a reality." You'll need good people with talent to take your business to the next level. If you can't afford to hire the best, don't hire anyone.

- Watch your costs. Benjamin Franklin said, "Beware of little expenses: a small leak will sink a

Marsh Funeral Homes announces affiliation with Service Corporation International subsidiary

Marsh Funeral Homes have affiliated with a subsidiary of Service Corporation International, Terry Marsh announced today.

"Through this affiliation, the resources available to us will help us better serve our families," said Marsh. "It is a positive move, both for the community and for our employees."

Marsh's grandfather, Floyd Marsh Sr., founded the funeral home in 1938. The Marsh family added locations in Gurnee in 1986 and in Lindenhurst in 1996. Marsh will continue to serve families and manage the daily operations of the funeral homes.

"This is an opportunity of a lifetime. I am extremely proud to be associated with SCI," Marsh said. "We have worked diligently to be the best in Lake County, and joining the world's leading funeral organization is a testament to our years of dedication and service. We plan to continue and improve on our service to the community."

Ron Downey, president of SCI's Great Lakes region, said the company is pleased that these heritage funeral homes are now part of the SCI family. "We look forward to continuing the commitment, caring and personal service that families have come to expect from Marsh Funeral Homes over the years," Downey said.

Based in Houston, Texas, Service Corporation International provides funeral and cemetery services in North America, Europe, and the Pacific Rim. As of September 30, SCI operated 3,048 funeral service locations, 376 cemeteries, and 160 crematoria. SCI's stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol SRV.

Waukegan Savings & Loan to host 'After Hours'

Waukegan Savings and Loan, one of the area's oldest financial institutions will host a Lake County Chamber of Commerce "Business After Hours" event on Wednesday, Dec. 10, from 5 to 7 p.m. Waukegan Savings and Loan has served the local community since 1924.

"Waukegan Savings and Loan is delighted to welcome the entire business community to our Golf Road office," said Theodore (Ted) Stanulis, president of the storied Waukegan thrift. "We just completed remodeling at both our Golf Road and Tenth Street facilities and are very proud of the results."

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce's popular "Business After Hours" provides an informal networking opportunity for Chamber members approximately once a month. "Business After Hours" is an outstanding way for businesses to get together where they can exchange information, business leads, network and enjoy each other's company.

For more information, call Stanulis at 623-6400.

Committee gets reports on entertainment village

The Village of Gurnee's Blue Ribbon Committee received details about the impact of the proposed Six Flags Entertainment Village on transportation issues and infrastructure on Nov. 25 at the Gurnee Village Hall. The reports, prepared by Metro Transportation Group, Inc., of Hanover Park, and by Manhard Consulting, Ltd., of Vernon Hills, provide a comprehensive look at how the 136-acre development will affect the Village of Gurnee.

Prism Development Company was directed by the Village of Gurnee to create a master plan for use of the land located directly across the Tri-State Tollway from Six Flags. As part of that plan, Prism evaluated issues such as transportation and infrastructure in the context of the entire community, not just the areas immediately adjacent to the project.

"The studies commissioned by Prism encompassed considerations beyond just this project. For instance, the Metro Transportation report addresses regional transportation issues as a main priority."

As part of their evaluation process, both Metro Transportation and Manhard Consulting were also directed to study the project based on the maximum possible impact.

Because these issues were approached from such a conservative standpoint, the reports offer a realistic view of how the Six Flags Entertainment Village will impact the Village of Gurnee. These factors offer the Blue Ribbon Committee members and village residents a clearer picture of how the development will fit into the community.

In their infrastructure report, Manhard Consulting examined issues such as the local water system, sanitary sewer, drainage and stormwater detention. They concluded that the Village of Gurnee's existing infrastructure currently exceeds the maximum use proposed in the Six Flags Entertainment Village project. As a result, Manhard Consulting does not anticipate the need for major infrastructure improvements to support the development.

The Metro Transportation report cites traffic issues that should be addressed. A significant conclusion was the need for the widening of Washington Street between Hunt Club and Route 21 regardless of any new development.

Phase I of the Six Flags Entertainment Village includes a 20- to 25-acre water park, a destination hotel, additional hotels, retail, employee housing and the development of four pads on outlots adjacent to Washington Street. Phase II of the development includes an 8,000 to 12,000 seat multi-purpose events center. Metro's report envisions that an interchange at Washington Street with the I-94 (Tri-State) Tollway would be necessary to accommodate the significant site traffic volumes from the events center.

The financial impact study prepared by Allen L. Kracower & Associates, Incorporated was also released. This report details anticipated revenues to the various taxing bodies, including the Gurnee, Lake County, local schools, etc. The financial report was discussed in detail at committee meeting on Dec. 2.

The Blue Ribbon Committee consists of 26 Gurnee residents and is chaired by village resident Victor Narusis. All meets are open to the public. Plans for a fifth meeting on Dec. 9 are underway.

For more information, call Hal Coxon at 459-5085, ext. 1005.

Body Craft marks 30th year

November marked the 30th anniversary of Body Craft, the professional collision repair center located at 40 West Route 173 in Antioch.

Art Creaney and Mario Maglio purchased Wes's Auto Body on Depot Street in November 1967. Body Craft moved from Depot Street to its current location in 1991. The new facility has become a state-of-the-art, fully computerized, professional repair facility.

Art and Mario's sons, Bill Creaney, Tony Maglio, and Mark Maglio, are continuing two proud family traditions. There are parallels between the Creaney and Maglio families and their customers, often both covering more than one generation.

Carl and Rich Becker of Antioch have two generations of Bodycraft experience. Their comments reflect the feelings of many: "Our family's cars have changed over the years. Bill and Tony have changed their business to keep up with the technology both in the office and in the shop. They provide the same caring service that our families experienced back in the '60s, however, their level of professionalism continues to grow each time I'm at their shop."

Bill and Tony are committed to customer satisfaction. To fulfill this commitment, they have invested in state-of-the-art shop and office equipment, as well as active involvement in trade and professional societies which has earned them an I-Car Gold recognition within the collision repair industry.

Toys for Tots Collection Boxes available at Cambridge and Lexington communities

In an effort to help needy children for Christmas, the Cambridge Companies are providing Toys for Tots collection boxes in 18 different locations throughout the Chicago area.

Between now and Dec. 22, the public can drop off new toys at any current Cambridge or Lexington community sales center as well as at the World of Cambridge located in the Cambridge Plaza in Libertyville. The U.S. Marine Corps, sponsors of the Toys for Tots program, will then arrange to have the toys delivered to the region's needy children in time for Christmas.

"The Toys for Tots program has brought joy to millions of underprivileged children on Christmas. We are fortunate to have so many sales centers located throughout the Chicago area to be able to support such a special program at this time of the year. Our sales centers are conveniently located for the general public, and we are asking our homeowners to help out as well," said Richard J. Brown, chairman and chief executive officer of the Cambridge Companies.

The Toys for Tots program evolved from a campaign in 1947 when Major Bill Hendricks along with members of the Los Angeles Marine Corps Reserve unit collected and distributed 5,000 toys to needy children. The program was so successful that in 1948, the Marine Corps adopted it and expanded it nationwide as the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Toys for Tots program.

Since 1995 merger with Lexington Homes, Cambridge Homes is among the largest homebuilders in the nation. The Libertyville-based company offers a variety of single-family and townhome designs with prices ranging from the low $100,000s to more than $500,000.

*Sometimes an old-fashioned song
Brings us a thought of you;
Sometimes a flower as we pass along,
Or a sky that is azure blue;
Or a silver
lining in the clouds,
When the sun is peeping through.
All of these things, make us think of you.*

How To Survive
The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Dear...Search,
As a Director of Personnel for a large corporation I tend to interview 30-40 persons per week. I am amazed by how many individuals will cuss, swear and use tainted language during the course of an interview. Please let your readers know that a slip of the tongue could cost you the deciding vote on whether or not a company will accept you for employment. Some corporations have a stringent hiring process.
Our corporation, as do many, makes it a point to take notes during the interviewing process. You would be shocked at how many potential employees are turned away because of unsuitable, slang, or harsh language spoken in the interview. Perhaps printing this will help people realize they have been one of these individuals and enable them to curtail this the next time they interview for a position with any employer. Thanks for your informative column and for listening.
J.E. - Deerfield
Dear J.E.,
Thank you for your input. It is no question that an individual while interviewing should be aware of his or her language. Yes, it is amazing how often a 4 or 5 letter word will slip out of someone's mouth and they are totally unaware of its impact on others as well as themselves. Strong and undesirable language does not belong in an interview no matter how comfortable you may be in that interview. Be on guard! The employer or employer's representative taking notes is taking notes for a reason. The reason is pros, cons, desirable and undesirable factors. Before you open your mouth to speak...collect your thoughts and be sure that what is coming out of your mouth is what you intend for the employer to hear.

Dear...Search,
I am one male in a department with 3 females who are into "male bashing". Each day I sit and listen to these women and I am sick of it! I have let them know how nasty they sound and how frustrating it is for me to have to sit and listen to this each day. Our boss is male and most likely unaware of what is going on. I would like it to stop!
They read your column each week while on break. Perhaps when they read this one, they will realize how rude and immature they are acting, and how hurtful some of the things are that they are saying even though they are not directed at me. Sign me...
Frustrated in Libertyville

Dear Frustrated,
I don't blame you for the way that you feel. If you think you are frustrated...imagine how miserably frustrated these women are to have to carry on this way. They say that "misery loves company". Let them know how you feel and that you would appreciate them putting the "male bashing" to rest. If that does not work, try reminding them that it was a male who got them their job. Good luck!

President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

Pet Parade

Dr. Trask

Ask The Vet

Ask The Vet-Dr. David Trask is part of a group of northern Lake County veterinarians who pooled their money and expertise to start All Creatures Emergency Hospital in Grayslake providing emergency care to pets nights, weekends and holidays. During the day he can be reached at Lindenhurst Animal Hospital.

Question:

I want to give my dog the turkey carcass after Thanksgiving dinner as his holiday treat. My friend says that is not good for him and can be dangerous. Is this true?

Answer:

Not only turkey bones but all poultry bones are small and easily splinter in the strong jaws of a dog or cat. We see several cases of intestinal blockages and/or puncturing of the intestines and stomach due to these splintered fragments of bone. The treatment of these holiday treats is not only dangerous or fatal but is also very expensive. The office call alone in a veterinary office or emergency hospital can run $25.00 to $60.00, then x-rays and/or a barium series can run in the range of $200.00. This does not even include surgery which is sometimes necessary.

Question:

My veterinarian says that heartworm preventative must be continued through January. Isn't this disease gotten from mosquitoes? There aren't any in January.

Answer:

The now common and easy to use monthly heartworm preventative works 60-90 days in the arrears. So when you are giving the January dose of heartworm preventative you are actually treating for the months of October and November, during which in our climate, you can still see small mosquitos in our homes, attics and even outdoors.

Question:

Why is antifreeze such a hazard to my pet, and why would my pet want to drink it?

Answer:

Antifreeze has a sweet, cool taste that is appealing to your pet and children. This lethal product can destroy their kidney function in a few hours. A new antifreeze has been developed and can be asked for, that is both child and animal non-toxic.

"Luna"

"Luna" is a mid-size, mostly shepherd mix spayed female. Just three years old, Luna has an attractive black, brown and cream short coat and perk ears. Intelligence just shines out of her beautiful face and eyes. Luna is housebroken and good with older children. Luna possesses the positive and desirable qualities that set shepherds apart: she is calm, attentive, alert and eager to please. Luna will learn quickly and she will respond well to training. Luna lost her home when her family moved from a house to an apartment. but a young, active, playful dog like Luna needs a house and a fenced yard for romping, fun and exercise. Luna will be a wonderfully loyal, affectionate and attentive friend. Stop by Orphans of the Storm and take this great dog home with you. Luna is in Cage 30.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 am to 5 pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.
